

Collas Crill maintains strong rankings in Legal 500 UK 2025 Guide

October 2024

Collas Crill's Guernsey and Jersey teams have maintained a strong set of rankings in this year's Legal 500 UK directory.

The firm is consistently listed in Tier 1 or 2 across its key practice areas and has received a plethora of industry endorsements on the expertise, commerciality and customer-first approach of its teams.

Collas Crill has been highlighted as a 'firm to watch' for its regulatory and white-collar crime practice in Jersey. Legal 500 noted the appointment of James Sheedy as 'augmenting its compliance and licensing expertise with his focus on fraud, asset tracing and regulatory investigations'.

Senior Partner Jason Green has been promoted to Legal 500's coveted 'Hall of Fame' - he joins Christian Hay, Damian James, Paul Wilkes and Nuno Santos-Costa with this accolade, which showcases those 'at the pinnacle of the profession'.

The directory highlights Collas Crill's deep expertise in real estate, financial services and regulatory, private client work and dispute resolution. A number of firm's lawyers feature in Legal 500's individual categories including Leading Partner, Next Gen Partner, Leading Associate, as well as the mentioned Hall of Fame.

Group Managing Partner Jason Romer said: 'Aside from the actual rankings, I always take pride in reading what feedback our clients have given us as a firm, and our individual lawyers. This year was no exception.

'One of our core values is to be easy to do business with. When you read words like 'exemplary' and 'extremely collaborative' it's clear our focus on building trusted, long-term relationships with our clients translates to the service we ultimately provide.

'I would like to congratulate Jason Green on his inclusion in the Hall of Fame - this is very much deserved and very apt as he celebrates his 30th year with the firm.'
